CHARACTERS

Each character card has:

- Action Points
 - Each action point allows the player to move one step or play an action card.
- Special Goals
 - Each character has their own unique special goal. Follow the instructions on the character card to complete them.
- Special Power
 - Special powers are unlocked only after completing the character's special goal.

Characters are not allowed to fulfil their special goal on their first turn.

For Serena, she can only meet one character per turn, even if other characters are on the same tile as her.

E.g. if she meets Ilham and Xin Yi at Bugis, she is allowed to pick only one character. If Serena picks Xin Yi, Serena is not allowed to meet Xin Yi again to complete her goal.

For Xin Yi and Ilham, they have to go to landmarks with their icons on them to collect their tokens. Picking up a token does not consume an action point. After collecting 3 of their respective tokens, each of their goal is accomplished and they may start to use their powers.

PROGRESSION

Festivals

A Festival should be opened at the start of the game and everytime after a festival is completed.

To complete festivals, players must turn in their collected food to the respective cultural landmark locations, denoted by a letter on the top right of the food card.

Chinese Food is to be turned in at Chinatown.

Malay Food is to be turned in at Geylang Serai.

Indian Food is to be turned in at Little India.

Festivals ALSO have these letter icons to denote which food belongs to which festival in order to know what food to submit.

Each festival needs 2 sets of 3 same racial category of food.

E.g. If the festival is Chinese New Year, players will need to turn in 3 Pineapple Tarts and 3 Mandarin Oranges to Chinatown.

Submitting food DOES NOT require action points and players may submit whatever food they can upon arrival at the appropriate location.

Events

Event cards can be collected when the player stops on a white circle at the end of the player's turn.

Some cards can be kept and used later which would be noted on the card. So, READ.

FOOD

Food can be bought at landmarks with food icons on them.

This one

Each food landmark contains one of each kind of food. If the food landmark is empty, players are no longer allowed to buy food from there.

Buying one food takes up one action point.

The player cannot pick which food to buy but instead will just draw randomly from the food deck.

The first food the player buys each turn costs $1.

If the same player chooses to buy more food on the same turn, there will be an increment in the price of food by $1 per purchase.

E.g. Player buys 1 food for $1. They did not get the food they want, so they decide to spend $2 for the next food card on the same turn. The next food card this turn will now cost $3 for that player, should they choose to continue buying and so on and so forth. This will reset back to $1 for that player the next turn.

Players can also pass food to each other whenever they pass by each other. This takes up one action point regardless of how many food cards are involved.

E.g. Serena is at Woodlands and wishes to give/take food from Xin Yi at Yishun. Serena can take the MRT from Woodlands to Yishun, collect/give food, then go towards their intended destination.

MOVEMENT

Walking

Moving to the next white circle takes up one action point.

Mass Rapid Transit (MRT)

The player may also choose to pay $1 per landmark and spend 1 action point to travel from one landmark to the next via MRT.

Welcome to the 21st century.

E.g. Taking the MRT from Changi to Bishan costs $2 and 1 action point.
(Changi - Geylang Serai - Bishan)

Regardless of how many landmarks are travelled, it only costs the player 1 action point.

Turn System

At the end of the last player's turn, increase the days counter by 1.

If festivals are not completed by the end of turn 12, the players lose the game.
